

A group of men, likely clergy, are seated in a row. They are wearing black and red robes, and some are wearing black hoods. They are looking forward, and the man in the center is wearing a red robe.

A photograph of four priests standing in a row on a concrete path in front of a large, multi-story building with a facade of reddish-brown and grey stone blocks. The priests are wearing black cassocks and surplices. From left to right: the first priest has a beard and wears a gold pectoral cross; the second priest is clean-shaven and also wears a gold pectoral cross; the third priest is clean-shaven and wears a gold pectoral cross and a purple stole; the fourth priest is clean-shaven and wears a gold pectoral cross and a purple stole. The building behind them has several windows with dark metal grilles. The ground in the foreground is a mix of concrete and dry, yellowish grass.

---

1 / 2

